NOTICES REGARDING MEAT INSPECTION.

CONCERNING AMENDMENT 7 TO B. A. I. ORDER 211, EFFECTIVE FEBRUARY 15, 1919.

The purpose of this amendment is to permit the addition of lard stearin to lard without requiring the presence of the added stearin to be shown on the label of the finished product. It is believed that in practice lard stearin will be added only to soft lards which are deficient in stearin. This is a natural conclusion since the market price of lard stearin is higher than that of lard with the possible exception of the highest grade of lard.

A considerable number of samples of soft lards have been examined in the laboratories. These examinations show that such lards consist of the same glycerids as ordinary firm lards, but differ in the proportion of the different glycerids. The soft lards contain a higher proportion of liquid glycerids and a lesser proportion of the solid glycerids than do firm lards. The composition of soft lard is similar to that of lard oil, except that it contains a small proportion of solid glycerids, while in lard oil these are almost if not entirely removed. The laboratory investigations of lard stearin shows that this product consists of the same glycerids as lard, but differs from it in containing a higher proportion of the solid glycerids and a lower proportion of those that are liquid. In mixing lard stearin with soft lard there is produced a mixture the composition of which is more nearly identical with that of the average normal lard than that of the original soft lard. Such a mixture could not be distinguished from normal lard and has practically the same composition as normal lard, and it has the same culinary qualities and nutritive value. It appears, therefore, that the addition of lard stearin can be permitted without injury or fraud upon the consumers, and that it is unnecessary for the label to show the presence of added stearin.

The addition of lard stearin to lard will permit a better utilization of the fat of hogs which have been largely fed on peanuts or other feeds which produce the so-called soft pork, and the market price of lard stearin will be the limiting factor in the amount added to lard.

SPECIAL CERTIFICATION FOR SOFT GREASES OR TALLOWES DISCONTINUED.

Attention is called to the fact that the War Trade Board has removed the restrictions governing the exportation of soft greases and tallowes. Therefore, the instructions in Service and Regulatory Announcements of October, 1918, under the caption "Special Certificate for Soft Greases or Tallowes Exported" are hereby revoked.

TELEGRAPH OR TELEPHONE TOLLS IN CONNECTION WITH SLEEPING CAR, PARLOR-CAR, OR STEAMSHIP RESERVATIONS.

In order that confusion and annoyance may be avoided, the attention of all employees of this department who may be called upon to perform official travel should be invited to the following extract from a recent circular of the United States Railroad Administration relative to the use of local wires in making sleeping-car, parlor-car, or steamer reservations.

Railroad agents or representatives will not pay for telegraph or telephone messages covering sleeping, parlor-car, or steamer reservations; passengers desiring such reservations made for them by railroad representatives will be required to pay the established charges for the necessary telegraph or telephone service in both directions, except that telegraph and telephone wires of railroads under Government control may be used locally or jointly without charge to passengers in procuring sleeping-car or parlor and steamer accommodations under the following conditions:

(a) The accommodations will be secured only in connection with continuous trip, a reasonable time, not to exceed 12 hours, being allowed for train connection at points where transfers to sleepers are made.

(b) A sleeping or parlor car or steamer berth ticket, or order therefor, covering the accommodations must be purchased at any time they are secured.

(c) Before delivery of the sleeping or parlor-car or steamer berth ticket the agent to whom application is made for the accommodation shall require presentation or purchase of ticket good from his station to or beyond destination to which reservation is made.

For example, in performing through official travel from Washington, D. C., via Chicago, Ill., to St. Paul, Minn., an employee desiring to secure a Pullman reservation beyond Chicago without personal expense must present to the Washington railroad representative transportation requests covering the entire coach fare and Pullman fare desired.
